ability to perform at the academic standards required by the participating schools, (2) the need for financial aid, and (3) strong family support. The program identifies gifted students and monitors their progress throughout their high school experience. The scholarship covers a large percentage of the yearly tuition for the entire four years of their education.

The first group of students were graduated from Northwest Catholic High School in West Hartford this past June. Matthew 25 would like to add to the list of participating schools to enable us to enroll more eligible students, and we can accomplish this goal with your help.

It's not what you get; it's what you give. And when you donate time, talents and treasure to Catholic Charities, your gift gives more than you may know. Open your heart and give today.
